1 . Please briefly present the partner organisation

Európa Ifjúsága Egyesület (Youth of Europe Association) was founded in 2008. The aims to promote the autonomy and personality of young people and their active social engagement. Supporting disadvantaged young people in the interests of equal opportunities, involving young people in small settlements in social processes. To strengthen the integration of people with disabilities and the minority to our society. The target group is not really specialized, every young people from the age 12 to 30. During our activities we try to influence the aspect and the attitude of the youngsters to become responsible adults. Furthermore the association transact international youth exchanges, trainings, children and family programs, exhibitions, camps, quizzes, courses, concerts, performances, and traditional programs to achieve its goals. The association have been generating projects for supporting inclusion and acceptance in the past few years at national and international level, promoting equality, active social engagement, youth involvement. For this one of our helper is a local radio, where the association has a show in every month to go there with the youngsters and talk about the things which is important for them. The association have been coordinating young European volunteer services. With the international projects, more than 600 young people participated in any international programs. The association is Eurodesk partner and the coordinator of the Eurodesk Network in Central Transdanubia. We provide low-threshold services so more young people can connect with us. We manage to make free programs with supporters. We provide practical spaces for university students.

Expanding domestic and international calculations will ensure the continuity of activities. Building on our expanding domestic and international volunteer base, we ensure continuity of activities. With their involvement, we can meet several requests at the high schools, at city-level events. We provide disadvantaged young people with opportunities that they will not achieve without our support, helping their integration into the community and their participation in voluntary activities.

We are regularly present in online and offline media (eg Facebook, Youtube, Instagram).

We work with the tools of non-formal learning. We are involved in domestic and international training involving young people, because it is important for the professionals who work with them to progress. We monitor the development of international youth policy, participate in influencing processes defining domestic youth policy.

A key element of a democratic society is the participation of young people in communities. They must have the right space, rights, means, knowledge, opportunities to be able to create a proper society. It is relevant to recognize the need for common social responsibility, the need for equal opportunities, and the emphasis on positive interdependence. They have to be utilized to reduce the presence of dependence. Ideal communication skills, self-esteem, self-confidence, acceptance environment and the existence of a potential community are an elementary condition for a complete, responsible life.

By developing their communication skills, self-esteem and self-confidence, they change their mindset, acquire attitudes that provide a broader perspective and improve their personality. New contacts make it easier to accept others and become more tolerant. They become eligible to co-operate with other areas, conduct community actions, actively participate in volunteer youth work, youth organizations, encourage people to help, support and transfer their knowledge of society. It also supports disadvantaged people in integration into society. The acquired information is passed on, multiplied in their families, in their school, in their narrower, wider environment, and contributes preventively to the formation of our society.

Európa Ifjúsága Egyesület is a Eurodesk Partner organization. The leader of the association coordinates the Eurodesk network of Central-Transdanubia in Hungary therefore we take part in activities nationwide in many projects and represent the youth.

We have been sending young people to volunteer service since 2015. and we are supporting organization in this program. We are currently supporting three German-speaking young volunteers as supporting organization. They are volunteering in a German language kindergarten in Veszprém. We have learned from our experience how to best support volunteers. We always provide personalized support, as every young person needs a different kind of support.

We have an application form in ESC (solidarity project) for our young people.

It is a great honor for us that the Hungarian National Agency has invited our organization to present our experiences to interested educational institutions at the "Solidarity On!" event in Hungary.

Our experiences: (last two years):

Genders topic:

The topics covered in the course of the projects have great influence on the evolution of our society. The topics of gender roles in society, stereotypes and LGBTQI (Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Intersex), raises problems that are incompatible with the respect for human rights, and the notion of a democratic society.

We aim to promote active civil engagement, social inclusion and solidarity, to fight against discrimination, to increase equal opportunities, and the intercultural sensitivity of young people, to develop competencies, to raise awareness to non-formal and informal learning, to promote the mobility projects of the European Union, and thus increase the labor market integration of these young people.

Unemployment topic:

The unemployment affects youth's life in financial, economical, spiritual and mental ways, not just in our country but other countries as well. Youth unemployment generates huge societal strains.

With the project, initiated by young people, the aim of the exchange is to help youngsters to set goals, clarify their resources and find new ways to step into their adult life. Through the exchange they developed their competencies and understand the local realities of their youngsters of Europe.

Furthermore our aim is that these young people, using non-formal methods, get acquainted with other languages, cultures. During the project participants acquire competencies and attitudes which help them to find a suitable job, become better employees and reach their own aims.

Interculturality, migration topic:

Europe has to face a new dimension of interculturality. Via migration, people from different cultures have to learn how to live in peace next to each other. They have to learn to open up to other cultures, to understand and accept differences and similarities, to solve their misunderstandings and conflicts.

Online media, home and justice affairs (human rights & rule of law), civic engagement / responsible citizenship topic:

The topics covered in the course of the project have great influence on the evolution of our society.

Nowadays the media is overwhelmed and its role in the society is increasing. Information communication services have transformed our habits and lifestyle. We live our lives and organize our lives on/with the internet. Every form of online communication can be used on mobile phones as well. In the online space we meet and communicate in the same way as in the offline world. We can use applications in almost every life situation. Digital competencies have become not just a necessity but a basic requirement.

With the spread of the online world, its dangers also appeared. Not only the user's data can be unauthorized, but it transforms our understanding, perceptions, attitudes and habits in our real environment, and can damage our personality. With the increasing time spent on internet, persistent demand for constant information acquisition and constant online presence can be addictive.

The concept of violence, online harassment, has emerged in the media. We spend most of the time on the internet with browsing social media, online community spaces, blogs, forums, video, image and music sharing portals, databases and news aggregators. It has many hazards. On social networking sites, users can hide their identity, show other characters than they are in the reality. Risk factors are the applications that allow harmful content and make contact with strangers, the use them is long-term, extremely harmful and difficult to repair in young people's life. The deformed, idealized content of social media can damage the correct judgment of their immediate surroundings, friendships, community relationships, private-sector values, and the media-based advertisements format younger consumers' habits. Because, the online space is public space, so every rule in a democratic society should prevail.

Gender Equality / Equal Access

The EU was the first to recognize sexual orientation and gender identity as grounds for discrimination and included protection for LGBTQ+ people in official documents and anti-discrimination directives that followed, but LGBTQI+ people are still discriminated in Europe.

These young people suffer from the disadvantaged because of their sexual orientation, which often overlaps with a negative discrimination based on sex, disability, ethnic origin or religion. Young LGBTQI+ people often become victims of discrimination and intimidation based on their orientation and identity, but age, income and ethnic background further increase the risks.

Rejection by the family and friends of LGBTQI + people, school and street violence, discrimination and the hateful behavior against them can lead to underdevelopment, mental problems, and in critical cases suicide.

Examining the differentiation of the views about participation in gender roles in social division of labor in Europe, it can be stated that there is a strong difference of opinion between the Eastern and Western regions of Europe. According to the most recent annual review of ILGA Europe's human rights situation of LGBTQI+ community, most of the participating countries in the projects have a low score on the index, meaning that they can not live with their basic human rights if they belong to this minority.

Our aim to make the youth worker to be aware of the rights of the LGBTQI + community, to resist their injustice. Participate more actively in the lives of the members of the communities, communicating with them. It is preferable to work for equal opportunities, non-discrimination and fundamental human rights in their narrower and wider society.

3. What are the skills and expertise of key staff/persons involved in this application?

All of our members have international experience, mainly in Erasmus+ projects, they are experts in project management, and they have knowledge and professional experience in coordinating EU-funded projects. They also act as supervisors who are responsible for the coordination of our volunteers and the associations' activities.

Ágnes Makovi has been working in youth profession for many years. She has assembled, coordinated and made the financial accounts of many Hungarian and EU projects, so she has the qualification and experience to manage our organization. She also works as a facilitator on trainings, and programs organized for young people. She has great experience in the field of project management, equal opportunities and peer support. She has been coordinating the Central Transdanubian region of the Eurodesk Network for many years. Due to her long-term experience, she has a wide range of national and international relationships. She has been participating in many international programs, and trainings, which continually adds to her knowledge and experience and helps her to establish new, strong and trusted international relationships. Actually, she works as a reviewer of EVS and ESC accreditations and expert in E+ and the ESC.

Tasks:

- She is responsible for the projects within the organization
- Organizing the project properly, and also supervising it - Who is in charge in the project, what are the duties during the implementation
- Quality control to ensure proper quality

- Making contact with the supporting and receiving organizations. Working out a communication method, and sharing out tasks according to the commitment of the EU
- Helps in the volunteer selection process and in establishing contact among the organizations
- Making a contract among the parties involved in the project. Supervising the realization of the contractual points
- Helps the preparation of the volunteer prior to the project
- To cooperate with the project partners, including conflict solving and crisis management
- More monitoring at milestones (i.e.: half-term) Cooperating with the volunteer, the mentor, the coordinator of the receiving organization it is necessary to check what works well, and what are those things that are needed to be changed in order to realize a good quality project
- Strong monitoring of the financial processes – this is of major importance in the case of a coordinating organization
- Constant contact with the mentor and the project partners
- Manages all the necessary tasks concerning traveling, insurance, accommodation, meals, language courses, and financial support
- After finalizing the project, evaluation of the process together with the participants, also assessing the consequences and giving feedback

The mentor is Éva Monori. She is English teacher and a professional personality development trainer. In recent years she helps during the workshops for youngsters, and has been participating in the Erasmus programs (EVS, ESC, YE). She also has an active role in the organization and implementation of different programs. Her experiences with people helps her to easily find the way in every situation, she has excellent communication skills and can strike the right note with people. She has good problem-solving skills and can deal with conflicts effectively. She is highly proficient in written and spoken English. The day-to-day support of the mentor(s) is crucial especially in the first period. The mentor(s) monitor the volunteers' work during the weekly meetings and coach them to reflect upon the learning objectives and the development of the Youthpass.

Andrea Schmidt I., accountant:

- Manages the money circulations related to the projects appropriately
- Ensures the appropriateness of finances as stated in the contract (the amount for sending the volunteer), and the financial allotments for the volunteers (allowance, pocket money, traveling costs, phone bills, accommodation fees).

In the projects of EVS, ESC, YE projects Andrea Schmidt II. to be the person, who is going to assist the association. Through her own experiences she can authentically speak about the goals of the association, the international possibilities to their peers. She participated in numerous domestic and international projects as a participant and as an executive. She studied at the Eötvös Lóránd University, as a social a youth worker. She spent six months in a youth center in Cyprus, completing an EVS.

She helps us a lot to involve more and more young people in the national and international programs.

- Using her experience she actively supports the volunteer-to-be in the preparation process
- Multiplication of the project among young people, and for organizations working with young people
- Helping the volunteer with her personal support if necessary
- Personally supporting the young people executing the ESC – on online surfaces if necessary. This is extremely important especially among volunteers with vulnerabilities.
